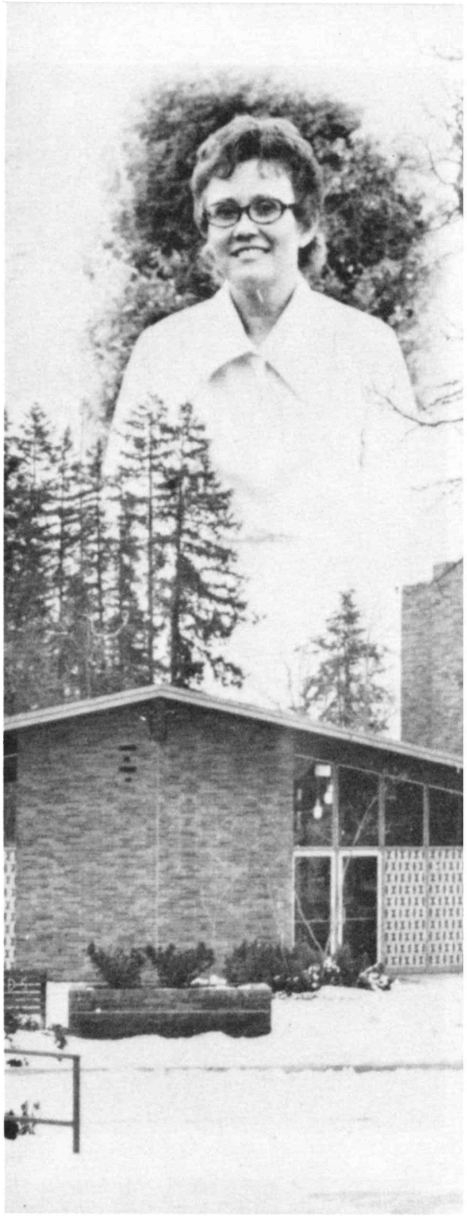
C/EDWARDS



This is the time to remember,
'cause it will not last forever,
these are the days to hang onto,
'cause we won't, although, we'll want to.
This is the time. But time is gonna change you've given me the best of you,
but now I need the rest of you.
Did you know that before you
came into my life,
it was some kind of miracle that I survived.
Someday we will both look back,
and we'll have to laugh.
We lived through a lifetime
. . . and the aftermath.
Sometime it's so easy to let a day slip by with out even seeing each other at all.
This is the time you'll turn back to
and so will I,
and those will be days
you will always recall . . .
This is the time,
but times is gonna change
and I don't want to lose you now.

THE HOBSON ERA

There was always something special about Hobson. Perhaps it was the fact that the urinals were accidently left unattached to any pipes behind the walls when it first opened, filling that space from the bottom; or maybe it was that anxious feeling you always had upon preparing to open a hall door, never sure if you were about to be hit by a golf ball, frisbee, football, or chair. Maybe it was the special odor that only Hobson had.

I spent my freshman year on Hob 1, known at the time as "Sygma Ky Cy", the first frat on campus. And given the opportunity to be an RA the next two years, I wouldn't consider anywhere but the Hob. I enjoyed the "Hob 111 Sauna Sing-a-longs" in the shower room and the "Terminal-Slides" down the canyon mud. The waterfights, hallway golf tournaments, stereo wars, and bottle rockets all combined to create a special atmosphere.

It is somewhat sobering to see the Hob closed and quiet. I still wander through the halls occasionally and remember how it used to be. That building holds a lot of memories.

Yep, there was definitely something special about that dorm. From the "Penthouse at the Top'O the Hob", down to the "Ivy League, from the wall murals to the wall stains; from the "Mission Impossible" raids on Sutton lobby to the dance sessions in the study rooms, Hobson is a unique dorm with a lot of character. Spoken of now in reverence, the Hob is a silent monument to the times when it was the talk of the campus, and when it provided shelter to the more "radical" element on campus.

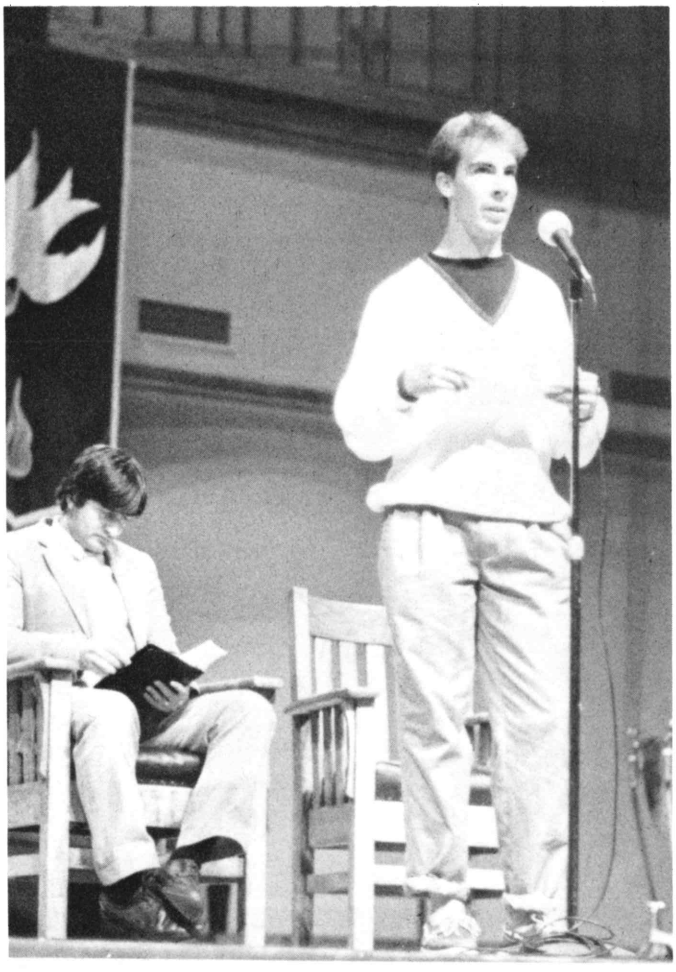
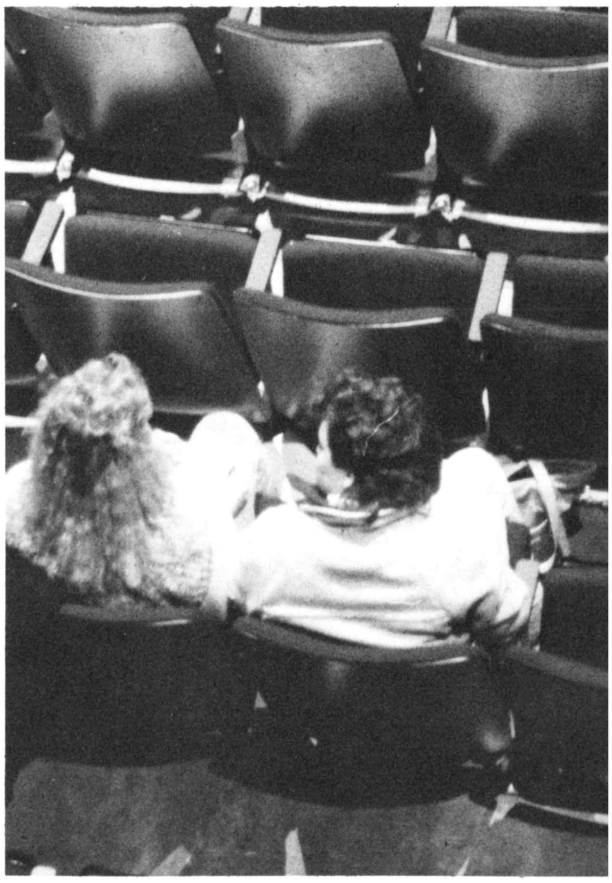
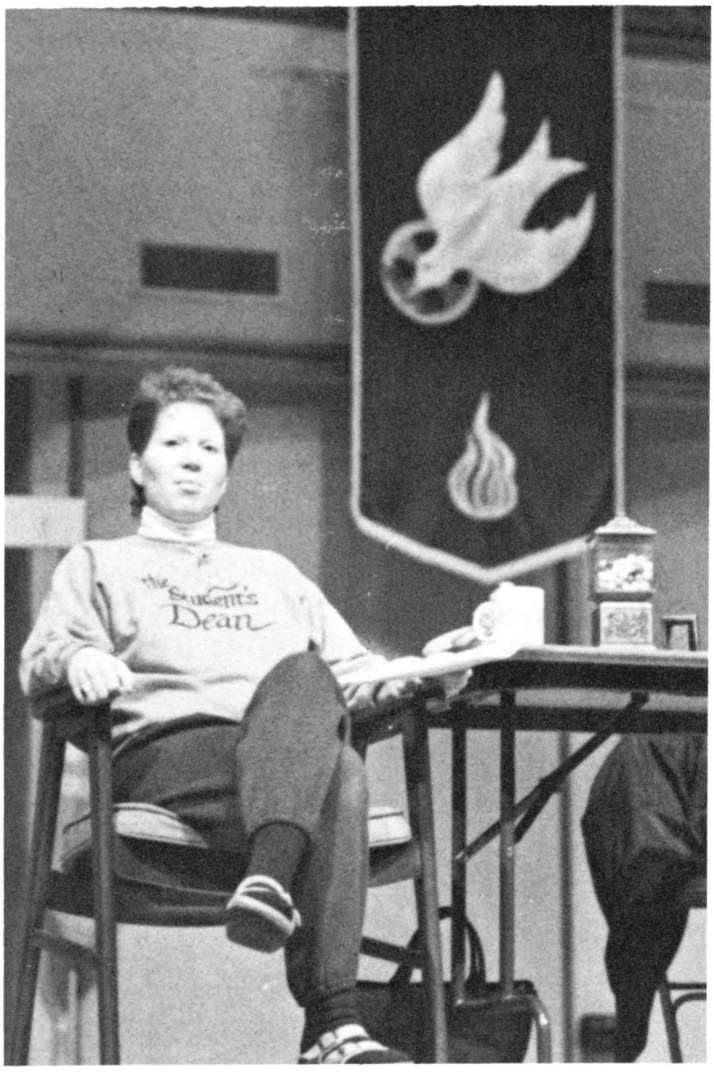
CHAPEL







Chapel this year underwent some changes in format and style.

During fall semester we had the opportunity to hear from our own staff and faculty. A chance to learn more about the people we usually see only as professionals. We heard from no less than fifteen professors as they really are; their triumphs, tribulations, and frustrations. Among these speakers were: math professor Hank Helsabeck, religion professor Julie Hobbs, psychology professor Jim Foster, and Dean of Students Deb Lacey.

We experienced the more traditional chapel addresses on stage in spring semester. Oscar Brown, a representative from the Northwest Yearly Meeting of Friends, spoke, as did Neighborhood Church pastor Gary Randall, and Dr. C.K. Zhoung, a special Consortium College lecturer. Also, a number of traditional chapels were presented, among them the New Vision, Chorale, and Inter-Mission chapels, the annual Missions Conference, Staley Lecture Series, and the Senior Class Chapel.

It was a year of change, as well as a year of tradition. A year of looking where we are going, and a time of seeing where we have been.

TOMMY LASORDA VISITS FOX

Los Angeles Dodger Manager Tom Lasorda addressed nearly 350 persons at a GFC Bruin Club banquet this fall.

He used life experiences as humorous anecdotes to urge support of coexistence of athletics and academics, and to speak out against alcohol, tobacco, and drugs. "Laughter is good for the soul," he told listeners. At the conclusion of his address, Lasorda remained for a brief question and answer period before departing the event.

The ten-year veteran manager repeated to his audience the words he said his father gave to him: "Do the best you can at all times, and maintain your faith in God."

TRUE COLORS . . .

Dear Fellow Students,

Hi! This is your friendly editor. I'm here to tell you a little about the L'Ami. Have some of you wondered what "L'Ami" means, well it means "The Friend" in French of course. (Get it the friend- Quaker college Ha Ha)

Now lets see, financial matters next I think. Yes, we refinanced the book this year. We, in Communications and student government included the book in the fees. This added a lot of possibilities with what we could do. LIKE COLOR!! And more pages. As you may have realized already this book is a bit different. I was chosen for this job because I knew how to get it done. But Guess what I had very little experience. So this book was not only a challenge but a great big learning experience.

When I decided to take on this huge job I knew I didn't want to do it the normal way. And I figured since I didn't know the rules of yearbooking I wouldn't feel that bad when I broke them. I've found out already I broke something.

But, the chief goal of mine was to capture our Year'86-'87 in a unique and particular way. This is a special school, I wanted to rememberance to be special too.

So any comments you have please direct the positive and good ones to Box G-L'Ami, And all the negative, bad comments to Curtis Hadley or the Communication Director, I don't know if I'm stable enough to hear them.

HAVE A GREAT SUMMER!!

-Stephanie Peters
L'Ami Editor

SPECIAL THANKS!

* Carrie Brown- You came in the nick of time. My lifesaver, I'm looking forward to next year. Thanks again and alot.
* Mary Pemister- Assistant Editor, Thanks Mary for being my friend And putting up with me through this.
* David Kinsella- What shall I Thank You for? — Getting me in trouble, I couldn't do it alone.
* Curtis And the Communication Committee- You guys sound like a rock group. But really, Thanks for giving me the opportunity to fail and the encouragement to keep going.
* Scott and Tyler- For keeping me up all those nights and making me laugh.
* Dan White- You were there to help me spend the money and make Those overwhelming decisions. Your taste is exceptional-I love Snack Attack.
* My Staff- Jeff Towers- Copy Editor
  Kathy Thompson
  Nancy Perisho
* Kasey Crocker- Look at this fine mess you've gotten me in now. I love ya still.
* Ken and Ken The Darkroom Crew- Guys you've put up with a lot. Thanks!!
